FORMERLY by advertisement I requested all those that were indebted to me to come and settle their accounts, but little regard was paid thereto.——I once more, and for the last time in this way, call upon every one that is indebted to me either by bond, bill, promissary note, open account, or otherwise to come and pay the same.—Likewise all those that I owe, or may think I do owe them, to bring in their accounts that they may be adjusted and paid by myself in my life-time—for I am determined to have my accounts settled (if possible) and that speedily, as I intend once more to cross the Atlantic. By this method I mean to prevent accounts being trumped up against my estate after I am gone, that probably would never have appeared had I been on the spot, or alive.—For in the course of thirty odd years that I have been in business too many accounts of this description have I seen.—There is on hand about a thousand pounds first cost of choice GOODS, that may be had on good terms.—Also, TWO LOTS, one of them improved on and both have lately been fenced in.—Also some NEGROES that I will either sell or hire.

Alexandria, March 1, 1787.

account of an act of heroism that deserves to be recorded. In the storm between the 6th and 7th of last month, the vessel commanded by Capt. Robert, of Fecamp, was driven on shore, when Jean Francois Pessel, of the parish of Berniers Sur-mer, judging that it was scarcely possible the vessel could escape being overset, undressed himself, and having tied a rope round his wrist, plunged into the sea, and gained the shore, notwithstanding the extreme darkness of the night, and the fury of the wind and waves. By means of this rope he saved the lives of ten persons he left on board; and in two minutes after the last had quitted the ship, she was dashed to pieces.

LONDON, December 22.

The King of Denmark's plan for making discoveries towards the North-Pole, has not been attended with the expected success; two of the vessels sent upon that expedition having been lost by getting among the ice, and part of the crews were with difficulty saved.

Comte Fernan Nunez, the Spanish Ambassador to this Court, was to leave Madrid, on his way to England, the beginning of this month. As soon as his arrival at Paris is made known to the Minister here, Lord Walsingham, our Ambassador to the Court of Spain, will immediately repair to Paris, where, according to the etiquette which is agreed on to be observed, they are to meet; both intend to remain there about a month. Whenever the Spanish Ambassador quits Paris for England, Lord Walsingham will instantly set off for Madrid. The Comte is spoken of as a man of great abilities, and has been for a long time at the Court of Lisbon.

Dec. 25. We learn from Constantinople, that the Divan offers to join Russia, England, and France, against all the Barbary States, in order to prevent the further robberies of these pirates: And as the Porte does not expect any thing but peace with the Russians, they are, therefore, more anxious to devise some plan to protect commerce from the depredations of those freebooters.

Extract of a letter from Gibraltar, via Spain, Dec. 7.

"The Algerines are about to break with all Europeans; the Spaniards, with whom they have lately concluded a truce, not excepted. The Racehorse sloop is lately returned from that port, where they were fitting eleven ships, from 42 to 18 guns, which, with what vessels they have at sea, make their navy very formidable. The French are fitting at Toulon, a ship of 90 guns, and five very stout frigates, to protect their trade. The Dutch have only two men of war in the Mediterranean. All is well here at this present writing."

Dec. 27. In addition to the deficiencies in the revenue for the current year, which, as we have stated, will amount to 1,200,000l. a further necessity for a loan will arise from the reduction of the duties on rum, which is found to be absolutely necessary to shield the West India planter from absolute ruin. We doubt not but the Minister will open his budget of new taxes with sufficient confidence; but after having so repeatedly pledged himself that there would be no necessity for new burdens on the people, we cannot but think it one of the hardest tasks which the experience of our Minister was ever called on to encounter.

BOSTON, February 17.

Since our last, his Excellency the Governor received the following spirited and patriotic letter from his Excellency the President of the State of New-Hampshire, dated Portsmouth, Feb. 9, 1787.

SIR,

I AM this moment honored with your Excellency's favors of the 2d and 7th instant, with the inclosure, and sincerely congratulate your Excellency and the government on the happy success of your efforts to quell the daring insurrection in your State. You may rest assured, Sir, that no measures shall be wanting, in this State, to prevent the rebels from receiving countenance, aid or protection in this State—and every effort will be tried to apprehend such offenders as you shall, from time to time, name to us, if residing in New-Hampshire—that they may be sent to receive the punishment due to their offence from the Commonwealth they have so greatly injured. I have the honor to be, with great respect, your Excellency's most obedient servant,

JOHN SULLIVAN.

His Excellency Governor BOWDOIN.

A person who came to town yesterday from the State of Vermont, informs, that Shays, with a number of other rebel officers, left Guildford, in that State, on Friday last week, on their way to Berkshire, in this Commonwealth.

ALEXANDRIA, March 15.

His Excellency George Clinton, Governor of New-York, after reciting the Proclamation of the Governor of Massachusetts, for apprehending Shays, &c. offers by public Proclamation, also a Reward for securing in any Goal, within the State of New-York, these deluded and infatuated Persons, who had the effrontery to disturb or subvert all Law and Government in that Part of New-England; and it is very probable, his Example will be followed through the United States.

Last Saturday the Body of another of those unfortunate Men, that was drowned with Captain Moone, was found near this Town.

☞ Lent to some Person, to whom forgot, a Volume containing three Novels, one of which is called Count Fathom.—Whoever has it in Possession is requested to leave it at the Printing-Office.

Salt.

TAKE a six quart jug of old hard cyder, put therein a pint of mustard seed, one double handful of parsley roots, one double handful of lignum vitæ shavings, and one double handful of horse radish roots: Let them simper together over a slow fire forty-eight hours, when it will be fit for use.—Take a tea cup full of this liquor three times a-day, and it will work off the disorder by urine, without any trouble to the patient. A most surprizing instance of the efficacy of this simple medicine has lately taken place in the case of Mr. William Wray of Lunenburgh, who from the worst state of the dropsy, was by it restored to perfect health."

An Act for apprehending and securing RUNAWAYS.

BE it enacted by the General Assembly, That any person may apprehend a servant or slave, suspected to be a runaway, and carry him before a Justice of the peace, who, if to him the servant or slave, appears by the oath of the apprehender to be a runaway, shall give a certificate of such oath, and the distance, in his opinion between the place where the runaway was apprehended and that from whence he fled; and the apprehender thereupon carry the runaway to the last mentioned place, or deliver him to the owner, or some other authorised to receive him, and shall be entitled to ten shillings, and one shilling for every mile, of such distance as he shall necessarily carry him, to be paid by the owner. The runaway, if the owner be not known, or reside not in the Commonwealth, shall be, by warrant of the Justice, committed to the gaol of his county, the keeper whereof shall forthwith cause an advertisement, with a description of the runaway's person and wearing apparel, to be set up at the door of the court-house, and of every church within his county within ten miles. If the owner claim not within two months thereafter, the sheriff shall publish a like advertisement in the Virginia Gazette for three months and shall hire the runaway out during such time, and for such wages as his county court shall approve, having put an iron collar, stamped with the letter F, round his neck, and out of the wages pay the reward for apprehending, and the expences incurred on his account; but he shall deliver the runaway, even before the time expire, and pay the balance of the wages received, if any, to him who shall claim, and who having proved before the court of some county, or a Justice of the peace of the county in which such runaway is confined, that he had lost such an one as was described in the advertisement, and having there given security to indemnify the sheriff, shall produce the Clerk's or the Justice's certificate of such proof made and security given, prove by his own or another's oath, the runaway when shewn to him, to be the same that was so lost, and pay so much as the expences aforesaid shall exceed the wages. The runaway being a slave, after the end of one year from the last advertisement, shall be sold, and the proceeds of the sale with the balance of the wages, paid to the public Treasurer, for the use of the owner, proving his property at any future time, or otherwise for the use of the Commonwealth. If the runaway die in gaol, the expences shall be defrayed by the public. The runaway, if he shall have crossed the Bay of Chesapeake, shall be delivered to the Sheriff of some county bounded thereby, who shall transport him to the other side, and cause him to be put into the hands of a constable, to be by constable to constable conveyed to the owner, who shall pay to the Sheriff five pounds, and to the Constable one shilling for every mile he shall necessarily travel in performing this duty.

N. B. I will take two apprentices immediately, if they come well recommended; boys of fourteen or fifteen years of age will anſwer beſt.

YOUNG SPOT,

WILL cover this ſeaſon at the Rocks, Berkeley County, four miles below Snickers's Gap; he is a thorough bred horſe, fifteen hands and one inch high, and complete in every reſpect, imported by Mr. Hyde of Frederickſburg.——The following pedigree will prove him to be as high bred as any horſe in England.—The original may be ſeen here, and runs in the following words—" The cheſnut horſe I ſold Mr. Hyde was bred as follows: He was got by Edmund Turner, Eſquire's, horſe Spot; Spot was got by the Duke of Ancaſter's horſe Blank, which covered at ten guineas a mare; Spot's dam was got by Mr. Martindale's old horſe Regulus, which won nine King's plates; the cheſnut horſe's dam was got by Jig, and Jig by the Duke of Bolton's Goliah, which here won nine King's plates; his grand-dam by Tom Jones, his great grand-dam by Young Grey Hound: Tom Jones was got by Old Partner, which horſe covered at ten guineas a mare; Tom Jones's dam was got by True Blue, his grand-dam by Cyprus, out of the Duke of Rutland's Bonny Black mare, which won Hambleton's guineas when thirty-ſix ſtarted.—This is a true pedigree. Witneſs my hand,

SAMUEL TROUT.

Elkington, Lincolnſhire, July 9, 1785."

Young Spot will cover at One Guinea the ſingle leap, or Two Guineas the ſeaſon, the money or produce to be paid before the mares are taken away.—Good paſturage ſhall be provided and all poſſible care taken of the mares, but I will not be anſwerable for any that may be ſtolen or go away.

JAMES WORMELEY.

March 12, 1787.

And the

Knight of Malta,

Two valuable JACK ASSES,

WILL cover Mares and Jennies, at Mount Vernon, this ſpring, for Five Guineas the ſeaſon.——The firſt is of the moſt valuable race in the Kingdom of Spain; the other, lately imported from Malta by way of Paris, is not inferior.——The ROYAL GIFT (now five years old) has increaſed remarkably in ſize, ſince he covered laſt year; and not a Jenny, and ſcarcely a Mare to which he went, miſſed.——The KNIGHT of MALTA will be three years old this ſpring, is near 14 hands high, moſt beautifully formed for an aſs, and extremely light, active and ſprightly:—Comparatively ſpeaking he reſembles a fine courſer.

Theſe two JACKS ſeem as if deſigned for different purpoſes, equally valuable.—The firſt, by his weight and great ſtrength, to get mules for the ſlow and heavy draught. The other, by his activity and ſprightlineſs, for quicker movements on the road. The value of mules, on account of their longevity, ſtrength, hardineſs and cheap keeping, is too well known to need deſcription.

MAGNOLIA,

STANDS at the ſame place, for Four Pounds the ſeaſon: The money in every caſe, to be paid at the ſtable, before the Mares or Jennies are taken away; no account will be kept. Good paſturage, well encloſed, will be provided at half a dollar per week, for the convenience of thoſe who incline to leave their mares, and every reaſonable care will be taken of them, but they will not be enſured againſt theft or accidents.

JOHN FAIRFAX, Overſeer.

Mount-Vernon, March 12, 1787.

William Ward,

BEGS leave to inform his friends and the public in general, that he has removed from the houſe on the hill to his new houſe on the wharf, every way accommodated for the entertainment of gentlemen and travellers. From his diſpoſition to pleaſe, he hopes for encouragement.

Alexandria, March 15, 1787.

To the PUBLIC.

THE Subſcriber begs leave to inform the public, that he has been bred to the Conveyancing and Scrivening buſineſs, and will draw at the ſhorteſt notice, with accuracy, ſecrecy and deſpatch, Deeds, Mortgages and Bonds of arbitration, indemnity and covenantal, Wills, Codicils and Letters of attorney, Charter parties, and Bills of bottomry and of ſale, Agreements of all kinds, Bills and Anſwers in Chancery, and makes out copies of all papers delivered into his hands for that purpoſe.

Thoſe gentlemen who are pleaſed to favor him with their countenance, he aſſures ſhall never have reaſon to complain, as he is determined to pay the ſtricteſt attention to ſuch buſineſs as may be entruſted to his care. Any application at Mr. Alexander Smith's, ſign of Gen. Waſhington, will be immediate attended to.

WILLIAM J. VEREKER.

Alexandria, March 15, 1787.

Ten Dollars Reward,

STOLEN from the Subſcriber, living in Maryland, Prince George's County, near the Woodyard, a light bay MARE, ſeven years old this ſpring, branded on the near ſhoulder and thigh, thus S, and has a remarkable black ſpot on the near ſide of her neck; ſhe is a breeding mare and I expect with foal; ſhe never was docked and is about thirteen hands and an inch high, and was ſtolen on the 18th of Auguſt, 1786. Whoever delivers me the ſaid mare, or gives information ſo that I may get her again, ſhall receive the above reward, and reaſonable charges if brought home, paid by me

BAPTIST HARDEY.

March 8, 1787.

THE Subſcriber takes this method of informing his creditors, that he is now at Alexandria; and to requeſt of all thoſe to whom he ſtands indebted, that they will immediately furniſh their juſt claims againſt him to Meſſrs. WILLIAMS, CAREY and CO. for the purpoſe of taking the neceſſary meaſures to have his affairs arranged, ſo that he may be enabled to make proviſion for the due diſcharge of his debts.——And whereas ſeveral malicious ſtories are circulated, which in the unfortunate circumſtances he is in, he has reaſon to fear are too generally credited, he takes this public method of calling upon thoſe who know any thing to the prejudice of his character as a man of honor, that they will ſtand forward and in the face of the world publicly declare it.

The NEWSMONGER.

" Nimiam notus omnibus,
" Moritur ignotus sibi." Seneca.

" AN insect lives among mankind
For what wise ends by fate design'd,
I never yet could clearly find:

In pain for all, and thank'd by none,
And most perplext when most alone,
No State regards him, or the throne.

The flowers that deck the summer field,
The vernal bloom that frost conceal'd,
To him no spark of pleasure yield.

He life supports on self-esteem;
He plans, contrives, and lives by scheme,
And spoils good paper—many a ream.

Distrest for those he never saw—
Of kings and princes not in awe
He scorns their mandates, and their law.

Relief he finds for other's woes,
The wants of all the world he knows—
His boots are only out at toes.

Now Europe's feuds employ his brains,
Now Asia's news his head contains—
But still his labor for his pains.

The river Scheldt he opens wide,
And Joseph's ships in triumph ride;—
The Dutchmen are not on his side.

On great affairs condemn'd to fret,
The interest of our foreign debt
He hopes good Louis may forget.

He fears the Bank will hurt our trade,
And fall it must without his aid—
And yet his barber goes unpaid.

Our Western Posts (that Britons keep
In spite of treaties) break his sleep;
He plans their conquest at one sweep.

He grumbles at the price of flour;
Then mourns and mutters many an hour
That Congress have so little power.

Although he has no ships to lose,
The Algerines he dares abuse,
And longs to hear some better news.

The French, he thinks will soon prepare
To undertake some grand affair—
" So 'tis but war, we need not care."

Where Mississippi laves the plain,
He hopes the bold Kentuckey swain
Will seize her forts and plague Old Spain.

Such morning thoughts, such evening dreams!
Thro' long dull nights he plans odd schemes
To dispossess her of those streams.

He prophesies the time will come
When few shall drink West-India rum,—
Our spirits will be proof at home.

The tories on New-Scotland's coast,
He deems, may all their freedom boast
In half a century, at most.

Then shakes his head, and shifts the scene,
Talks much about the Empress Queen,
And wonders what the Germans mean.

He doubts, and frets, and seems afraid
The States will lose by China trade,
Since dollars for their tea are paid;

Then hopes that by the month of June
Lunardi, in his new balloon,
Will make a passage to the moon.

THUS, all the business of mankind,
And all the follies we might find
Are huddled in his crazy mind;

'Till doom'd to think of new affairs,
At last with death he walks down stairs,
And leaves—the wide world to his heirs."
